YANKS CUT OFF AXIS FORCES ON SICILY

Meandering
Along the
Main Stem
By WASH FAYETTE

Almost every day we read in our newspapers and hear over the radio where more boys have been sent into the new war theaters, or where others have done some splendid job for Uncle Sam in some phase or another, or where still others have done so well in their endeavors that their commanding officers have seen fit to give them advanced training for an important mission to come sometime later. A large number of the boys are our own—right here from Fayette County. Hardly a day passes that a Washington C. H. or Fayette County youth does not get in some kind of a lick against the Axis. Our fighting sons are on all fronts in the world—in far off New Guinea, in China, in Burma, in the frigid, fog-en-shrouded Aleutians, in the Mediterranean area, guarding vital points in the Canal Zone, or in Iceland, on Guadalcanal, or in one or another strategic locations throughout the globe.

Everywhere that a war is being waged boys from good old Fayette County are bearing arms in an effort to overcome the Axis, and the job they are doing is a splendid one. These fellows are on the road to Tokyo and Berlin, by slow stages, it is admitted, but steady ones, and one of these days our youths will be there when the Stars and Stripes and the flags of other United Nations are sent flying high above cities which now are considered impregnable by Japs, Huns and Italians, although the latter are beginning to see the handwriting on the wall a little earlier possibly than are their buddies. Some of the boys who are now bearing arms will probably not be around when the flag-raising time comes. There are bound to be many casualties and, since our boys have never shirked a fight, names of some of our finest lads may be among those posted on casualty lists. But, wherever Fayette County boys are located, you know and I know that they are giving good accounts of themselves.

ROUT MAKES SICILY A 'LITTLE TUNISIA'

With the Allied forces, especially the Americans, driving so rapidly and so unexpectedly in their conquest of Sicily, it is impossible to keep maps up to date. However, the latest—which has been changed within the hour by the spectacular dash of the Yanks—shows the progress of the war and its supposed objectives. While American, Canadian and British troops plunge northward in Sicily, Axis troops which had waited in the western part of the island for the invasion that occurred elsewhere, now are rushing east (large arrow) to escape entrapment. The fall of Enna imperils the fleeing Axis forces which seem to have abandoned Palermo, Trapani, Marsala and other towns. Indications are that the remnants of the defending armies soon will be bottled up in the north-eastern corner (circle) about Messina, creating a situation similar to the last days before the fall of Tunisia. Another sizeable force of Axis troops also is believed bottled up in the western corner.

CUT IN GASOLINE RATIONS OPPOSED BY BRICKER GROUP

COLUMBUS, July 23.—(P)—Charles H. Jones, state commerce director, said today a committee named by Gov. John W. Bricker to study the gasoline situation in Ohio found additional rationing was "not justified now or in the predictable future."

The committee composed of petroleum production and marketing men, transportation and hauling representatives, and agricultural experts made its report at the request of the governor for up-to-date information on the relation between the state position and that of the eastern seaboard where rationing is more stringent.

Federal officials in Washington said recently midwestern rationing might be reduced.

Jones said all members were agreed that if military requirements necessitated reduction of gasoline rations, the cut should be national instead of sectional.

The committee estimated automobile usage in Ohio during the first four months of this year was only 40 per cent of the comparable 1941 period.

WEDDING GOWN MADE FROM USED PARACHUTES

OXFORD, July 23.—(P)—War-time style note: A wedding gown fashioned from used parachutes will be worn by Miss Mary McQuary of Oxford tonight when she exchanges vows with Lieut. Wilbur T. Blume of Lancaster.

Miss McQuary made the dress from two silk chutes sent her by the bridegroom from New Mexico while training with the Army air force.

Lieutenant Blume's father, Dr. W. T. Blume of Lancaster, a retired Methodist minister, will officiate.

WAR EFFORT 'FABULOUS' IN U. S. PARAGUAY TOLD

ASUNCION, Paraguay, July 23.—(P)—President Higinio Morinigo, returning home from a visit to the United States, declared last night that the American war effort is "really fabulous."

"The spectacle I saw causes me to reaffirm my faith in final victory," the president told a press conference.

FRENCH HONOR AWARDED TO LIEUT GEN CLARK

NORTH AFRICA, July 23.—(P)—Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark was made a commander of the French Legion of Honor today in a colorful ceremony in the French military camp near the headquarters of the American Fifth Army here.

The award was made in the name of Gen. Henri Giraud by Gen. Georges Beulier.

General Clark played a key role both in the planning and the execution of the American invasion of North Africa last November.

Navy Blasts Kiska And Indies Bombed

WASHINGTON, July 23.—(P)—Heavy guns of the United States Pacific fleet bombarded Japanese positions on Kiska Island Thursday, the Navy announced today, in the seventh surface attack this month against the enemy's Aleutian outpost.

The shelling apparently was intended to hasten the day when Kiska defenses will be softened sufficiently for amphibious assault and a final campaign to throw the Japanese out of the western Aleutians.

The surface attack was made by warships which a Navy spokesman described only as "heavy and light surface units."

Enemy shore guns returned the fire but none of the American ships was damaged.

A Navy spokesman said heavy fleet units could include modern battleships with their 16-inch guns, older capital vessels with their 14-inch guns, or heavy cruisers with their eight inch cannon. All those guns are classed in the Navy as heavy guns. Light surface units include destroyers and light cruisers.

AIRFIELD COMPLETED

HEADQUARTERS, ALASKA DEFENSE COMMAND, July 23.—(P)—The Japanese apparently have no intention of abandoning Kiska without a vicious battle.

American aerial reconnaissance indicates the enemy finally has completed its 3,700-foot airplane runway, long under construction on the repeatedly-bombed island.

Since Attu was captured and Japanese surface craft have been swept from the North Pacific and

Rome's Fate Up To Axis, In Roosevelt's Opinion

WASHINGTON, July 23.—(P)—President Roosevelt said today the Allies still hope the Germans and Fascists will declare Rome an open city.

The Chief Executive told his press-radio conference the Allies had tried for a year or more to have the Italian capital rendered an open city and hence not subject to attack, but that all these efforts had failed.

CATHOLIC REACTION

NEW YORK, July 23.—(P)—The Commonweal, a Catholic lay weekly publication, will say editorially in next week's issue that no distinction should be drawn between the bombing of Rome and that of "the industrial city in the Ruhr, than of the English town."

Another view of the bombing will be taken by the Tablet, official organ of the Catholic Diocese of Brooklyn, which will say editorially in tomorrow's weekly edition that the precautions taken to avoid striking religious and cultural structures will not "lessen the sorrow shared by all of us that the United Nations had not seen fit to spare the city which enshrines most of the most sacred relics of Christian antiquity."

The Berlin radio broadcast a transoceanic dispatch from Rome today saying: "All bureaus of Rome have been closed owing to the damage done by the recent air raid. They will remain closed until July 31." The broadcast, recorded in New York by The Associated Press, gave no further explanation but the word bureau is used for public department.

OUTLOOK BRIGHTENS FOR U. S. CORN CROP

Summer Weather Making Up For Late Start

CHICAGO, July 23.—(P)—A late-planted corn crop, growing rapidly under the hot mid-summer sun of central plains, is making up for the setbacks received from wet weather and floods this spring, crop reports disclosed today.

King corn is heading for a slam-bang climax this autumn, when the fate of a large part of the acreage will be decided within a relatively few days as the grain's growth races against the first killing frost.

Corn still is behind schedule. It hasn't entirely reduced the lag created by planting which was two or three weeks late in important producing areas. But since the wet spring weather has been favorable, and the crop has responded with excellent progress.

ALGIERS, July 23.—(P)—Gen. Henri Giraud has arrived in North Africa following his trip to the United States, Canada and England.

ISLAND CAPITAL IS CAPTURED IN DRIVE TO COAST

British Are Meeting Strong Opposition at Catania But Yanks Dash to Aid

PRISONERS ARE POURING IN

Enemy Seeking To Back Out Through Messina Facing Another 'Dunkirk'

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, July 23.—(P)— American forces, driving forward in a move to clean up the west-end of Sicily, have captured the island capital of Palermo on the north coast.

Capture of the city represented a lightning advance for the forces of Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., which only yesterday were reported 30 miles south of Palermo.

Thousands of Italian forces were trapped by the emergence of the Allied spearhead upon the north Sicilian coast.

By the capture of Palermo, Italy's sixth largest city, the Allies gained dominance of the Tyrrhenian Sea, the water approach to the western coast of Italy.

The Axis was now being compressed into an area of northeastern Sicily little larger than Cap Bon where their Tunisian forces were destroyed last May.

The main American forces, despite the sweep over western Sicily, were about 30 miles south of San Stefano Di Camastra on the north shore, where they could be brought to bear upon this remaining battle line.

San Stefano Di Camastra north of Enna, is connected by a major highway with the Leonforte area northeast of Enna.

Palermo, which has a normal peacetime population of more than 300,000, is situated some 50 miles from the western tip of the island and is the principal seaport.

By driving through to the north coast to capture the city the American forces effectively cut Sicily into two parts, sealing the avenue of escape for Axis troops trapped in the west.

(The Morocco radio said this morning Axis troops had abandoned Marsala and Trapani at the western tip of Sicily and were withdrawing eastward.)

An official announcement said the Americans entered Palermo at 10 A. M. yesterday.

(The fall of the city was announced in a special communiqué which said a large section of the Italian garrison had surrendered, according to an Algiers radio broadcast heard by the Associated Press.)

(The broadcast said the Italian 26th division had surrendered. It added the British Eighth Army still was engaging in a bitter battle for Catania. In another broadcast, Algiers relayed what it called "unconfirmed reports that Allied parachute forces had been landed north of Catania while the Germans rushed up reinforcements by air."

(Dispatches from London said defending western Sicily could be expected to give up quickly in the face of the American sweep. It was estimated Axis forces there might have totaled 100,000 or more at the start of the invasion, including two army divisions.

Nazi Lines Broken By Red Assaults

EUROPE'S ENSLAVED PEOPLES GETTING SUPPLIES AS WELL AS ENCOURAGEMENT FROM U.S.

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON, July 23.—(P)—By air and by mysterious underground channels the enslaved peoples of Europe are getting regular reminders—in a form more substantial than leaflets—that the United States is rich and generous and aims to do something about their plight.

Sewing kits, seeds, soap and packets of tea, bouillon and chocolate are being dropped by parachute or smuggled past Nazi barriers, each gift carrying a message of encouragement to the downtrodden for whom such things are scarce, costly or unobtainable.

Office of War Information officials today lifted some of the secrecy surrounding these deliveries into occupied lands and even enemy countries. They are

New Price Control Plans Considered

WASHINGTON, July 23.—(P)—President Roosevelt said today the administration is considering new plans for price controls and general economic stabilization, but that no ideas have yet been agreed on.

The Chief Executive made this disclosure at a press-radio conference when asked to comment on organized labor's demand that prices be rolled back if labor was to go along with the stabilization program.

The President said the reporter put it badly, that labor had not delivered an ultimatum. He added that labor as well as other groups are in a predicament because food prices generally have not been rolled to levels of last September 15, as called for by Congress.

The President then disclosed the administration is working on new plans and that whatever plan is agreed on would have to be put up to Congress because it will cost money.

If anyone has any bright suggestions as to how the rollback of prices can be carried out under the present law, he will welcome them, Mrs. Roosevelt said.

Recalling that his combined labor war board had suggested yesterday that prices as well as wages be stabilized, he said labor is in a predicament—as well as some of those in the room who have not had their salaries raised. He went on to say that food prices generally have not been put back to September 1942 levels, but that

PUBLISHER IS SHOT BY HUNGARY NATIVE

Plain Dealer Manager Near Death - - Assailant Suicides

CLEVELAND, July 23.—(P)—John S. McCarren, general manager of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, today was given "one out of four chances to survive" bullet wounds inflicted by an assailant who later killed himself.

Dr. O. A. Webber removed a bullet from McCarren's abdomen and reported the 74-year-old publisher was in critical condition.

He said he had "one out of four chances to survive."

McCarren was shot in the left wrist, right arm and lower left abdomen yesterday by Herbert L. Kobrak, 55-year-old native of Hungary, who had been active for several years in Cleveland's foreign language publishing field, detective Inspector Frank W. Story said.

The shooting occurred in McCarren's fourth-floor office in the Plain Dealer building in downtown Cleveland where the gunman had made an appointment to see the publisher about starting a foreign language graphic newspaper.

END OF COFFEE RATIONS LIKELY IN NEAR FUTURE

WASHINGTON, July 23.—(P)—Removal of coffee from the ration list is imminent, government food officials said today.

No final date for lifting of rationing has been set, but these officials said an announcement was expected to be made by the Office of Price Administration within the next few days.

Egg Shortage In Prospect For U.S. With Storage Stocks Going To War

WASHINGTON, July 23.—(P)—There will be a critical egg shortage in this country by next December, a spokesman for the Office of Price Administration said today.

"It will be the worst egg shortage in this nation's history," he said. "It will be accompanied by a bad Black Market. No plan for mid-winter egg rationing is being considered. I don't see how we could do it, the problem is so huge."

This is the explanation he gave: Right now this country is passing the peak of its egg production. Hens do their best laying in spring and early summer, producing in that time 60 percent of the annual egg supply.

From that early summer peak production falls off to a low point in mid-winter.

Normally cold storage eggs help tide Americans over the slack winter months. This year there will be no cold storage eggs for civilians. They will go to the armed forces.

Thirty percent of the total egg production will be turned into dried eggs—all to be bought by the government for the armed forces and lend-lease.

RUSSIAN ARMY DRIVES NEAR TO BASE AT OREL

Soviet Appeal Is Made To Germans To Overthrow Hitler for Peace

MOSCOW, July 23.—(P)—Russian forces crashed through the last strongly-fortified link in Orel's northern defenses yesterday on the 10th day of an offensive that has cost the Germans 50,000 killed and 6,000 captured, and closed their pincers tighter about that city despite desperate Nazi counterattacks, a Soviet announcement said today.

Bolkhov, 35 miles above the city, which a Red army column racing down from the north had by-passed while driving to within nine miles northeast of Orel, crumbled before the attackers and its fall "completed the liquidation of strongly fortified districts" in that direction, the Russians said.

Another Russian column pounding to within 11 miles of the key German defense city from the east, and a southern column moving up to complete the three-headed drive, beat back Nazi tanks and infantry to continue a steady advance, according to the Soviet announcement.

Altogether, the Russians said gains of four to five miles were registered in the Orel sector yesterday while the Germans lost 2,500 killed and 39 tanks destroyed or captured.

The Russian midnight communiqué placed German losses in material destroyed or captured in the 10-day Soviet drive at nine hundred planes, 1,148 tanks, 1,602 guns of various calibre, 800 mortars, and 1,400 machineguns.

(The German radio encountered with the assertion that the Red army had lost more than 350,000 in dead, wounded or captured since July 15.

(Terming the struggle "the greatest battle of attrition ever fought," German sources pictured the immensity of the armies facing each other along the Russian front by saying they were made up of 600 divisions—from 7,200 to 9,000,000 men "presently engaged" there.)

In the Belgorod sector, 165 miles south of Orel, the Russian announcement said Soviet troops overcame strong German resistance and counterattacks to continue their advances. The bodies of more than 1,000 enemy dead were counted on the field following a two-day battle, the Russians said.

(Today's German communiqué said the Russians had extended their large scale attacks to new sections of the front but insisted that Soviet attempts to effect a breakthrough had been in vain.

(Russian losses yesterday were set by the Germans at 566 tanks and 105 planes.)

CO-KIDNAP VICTIM OF CHARLIE ROSS IN 1874 IS DEAD

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., July 23.—(P)—Walter L. Ross, 74, co-victim in one of the nation's most publicized and mysterious kidnappings 69 years ago, later a prominent Wall Street figure, died yesterday after a long illness.

It was on July 1, 1874, that two men in a buggy stopped in front of the Ross home in Philadelphia, Pa., and offered Walter, and his four-year-old brother Charlie, candy and a visit to a circus. After a short ride, the men gave Walter a quarter to go into a store and buy candy.

Who drove away with Charlie, who was never seen again. The boy's father, a grocer, later received a demand for $20,000 ransom, but was unable to raise the money. Although thousands of persons offered assistance, no further demands for ransom were made nor were any negotiations begun.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, July 23.—(P)— Allied forces in Sicily have captured an Italian Admiral, Priato Leonard, commandant of the Augusta naval base, it was announced today.

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK

WASHINGTON, July 23.—(P)—Moscow's appeal to the Germans to overthrow Hitler and make an immediate peace, launched through a new "national committee of free Germany," was viewed here today as a trial balloon or more than ordinary importance.

The committee, with obvious Soviet inspiration, appealed in a manifesto for the formation of a "genuine national German government," which would cease military operations, recall the troops to the Reich's original frontiers and embark on peace negotiations.

Washington officialdom shared the reported view in London that the manifesto showed Russia's preeminent interest in the peace conditions to be imposed on Germany.

It undoubtedly was intended, it was said, as a propaganda year.

BRICKER IS NO. 1 ON OHIO'S LIST FOR PRESIDENCY

Sen. Taft and Sen. Burton Still Possibilities With Political Pot Boiling

By EARL BERKLEY

WASHINGTON, July 23.—(AP)—Political winds are blowing about the heads of Ohio members of Congress.

Home during the recess ending September 14, they are trying to learn firsthand from their constituents which way those winds are likely to go in 1944.

The state is more pivotal than ever because it will figure in the presidential race as well as the important congressional contests, not to mention gubernatorial and other statewide elections.

Ohio Republicans in the House are backing Governor John W. Bricker for the GOP nomination for president. Senator Robert A. Taft, a leading candidate in 1940, has said he is for Bricker. Senator Harold H. Burton is mum on politics in the face of considerable talk he is in line for the presidential nomination.

Taft's endorsement of Bricker does not "eliminate" Taft from discussion of prospective nominees. There are many leaders who suggest him as a strong candidate, particularly if victory comes before election time.

But, aside from guesses as to Taft and Burton, Bricker remains the first choice of Ohio Republicans in the House.

This raises the question of his successor as governor. Among those mentioned here is Representative-at-large George Bender of Cleveland. Friends report he is interested in the governorship, although he hasn't hinted he is ready to enter that race.

In recent years, Representative Thomas A. Jenkins of Ironton, dean of Ohio Republicans in the House, has been mentioned as a prospective candidate for governor, but private conversations among his colleagues indicate strongly he has other things in mind. He might be a candidate for Republican floor leader in the House if his party gained the majority and the present leader, Joe Martin of Massachusetts, became speaker. Jenkins, one of the oldest members of the House in point of service, is a member of the important ways and means committee.

Both Jenkins and Bender also have been suggested as candidates for the senatorial nomination, but it is doubtful if either would want to oppose Senator Taft who is up for renomination next year.

In the congressional races, the Democrats are primed for a stiff battle to regain seats lost in the last election. At that time they had 11 seats. They lost all but three, the survivors being Representatives Robert Cresser, Michael Kirwan and Michael Feighan.

light, for greater ease in spiriting them to remote spots or new hideouts. They are quickly assembled and taken apart without tools—an advantage in places where the Gestapo may drop in unexpectedly. They are easy to operate, for the benefit of amateurs. They include an all-aluminum printing press, set up in four minutes; a miniature typesetting outfit; a 12½ ounce mimeograph machine which can turn out 700 copies an hour; and a substantial flatbed mimeograph which weighs 22 pounds but can be carried in a briefcase.

On each gift is the American flag, a brief, friendly greeting from this country, or a picture symbolizing American armed might. In subjugated lands the flag and the message are concealed inside the cellophane jacket.

"Heil Hitler . . . Heil Hunger" is the message on a tiny, self-inking rubber stamp which can be hidden in a man's hand while he stamps the slogan on cafe menus, paper money—or even on a Gauleiter's shirt front when it comes back from the laundry. "Mort Aux Traitors" ("Death to Traitors"), another reads. These have been widely used in occupied Europe.

"So paper," an impregnated paper which lathers quickly, has the added advantage of being a fine vehicle for printed propaganda in French, Italian and other languages. The not-too-subtle text reads: "From your friends, the United Nations. Dip in water—use like soap. Wash off the Nazi dirt."

Sewing kits contain three needles, five pins and 40 yards of thread, packaged with a leaflet headed, "To the Women of France—a small remembrance from the United States of America."

NO VALUATION BOOST PLANNED

Appraisers Are Named and Are Now Active in City Wards

In the rural areas a general five percent increase was agreed upon.

The complete list of appraisers for the city follows:

First Ward: Harry Hays and Lang Conrad.

Second Ward: Loren Wilson and Jess Yeoman.

Third Ward: Frank Thatcher and Andy E. Henkle.

NAVY BLASTS KISKA AND INDIES BOMBED IN WAR AGAINST JAPS

The Bering Sea, however, the Japanese face a considerable task in getting planes to the island. American air raiders, using delayed action as well as regular bombs, continue forays on the island whenever weather permits.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, July 23.—(AP)—American airmen sprang a surprise on the Japanese yesterday with a destructive raid on the enemy's main Netherlands East Indies base at Soerabaja.

It was the first raid on the once great Dutch naval base on Java since the Japanese captured it in March, 1942, and the longest mission ever flown in the southwest Pacific.

Lights were burning brightly in the city and the dock area was a scene of bustling activity as the first Liberator bombers raced in and began planting 500-pound bombs and incendiaries in the target area. Japanese ground batteries quickly came to life, however, and raised a heavy but ineffective barrage. All our bombers returned.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communique today said the incendiary ies and high explosives hit an oil refinery, warehouses, railway installations and a dock. Fires visible 140 miles away were started.

The four-engined warplanes flew nearly 2,400 miles in the operation, made before dawn Thursday. The previous record of 2,000 miles was made on raids against Makassar on Celebes Island.

There was no easing of the daily battering given Munda on New Georgia. Bombers continued to rain bombs upon the beleaguered Japanese airbase there, dropping 135 tons of explosives.

YANKS CUT OFF AXIS FORCE IN SICILY IN SPECTACULAR DRIVE

three coastal divisions, and many thousands of other troops.

(In its daily communique, Rome reported a withdrawal of Italian forces in western Sicily.) As the Americans fanned out, bringing three-fifths of Sicily under Allied control, the British Eighth Army continued to make steady gains against stubborn German-Italian defenses on the battle-littered plain south of Catania. North of Catania the enemy was digging in among the foothills of Mount Etna for a last-ditch stand.

The Americans in the west moved with astonishing speed—some 60 miles in the three days ending Wednesday. Their commander, General Patton, called it better than the Nazis ever had done in their most favored moment.

The willing Italians saw their front lashed to ribbons by the bayonets of charging American infantry. Breakthroughs were widened and deepened with amazing rapidity by thundering squadrons of tanks and lighter armor.

Axis multitudes were surrendering. The total of prisoners was more than 40,000 yesterday and increasing so rapidly as to tax the ability of the Allied forces to route them back to prison camps.

As Patton's men achieved to the full his demand for lightning speed, Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, commander of all Allied ground forces, paid high tribute to their feat.

"Today, after the fighting they have done, the Americans are very fine fighting troops indeed," he said. "There is no comparison between the Americans in Sicily today and the Americans six months ago. They are 100 percent better today."

The capture of Palermo completed a run of nearly 200 miles (by road) across from Gela where the Americans landed 12 days before.

The collapse of the Italian front tended to widen the breach between the Axis partners, whose relations have been steadily deteriorating ever since the Allied landings in Sicily, according to headquarters reports.

The Italians, who have complained that the Germans abandoned them in front line positions whenever the situation became hopeless and escaped in the available transport, now could be blamed by the Germans for failing to hold up their end.

At headquarters it was expected that the greatest repercussions were likely to result in the Balkans and other areas policed by the Italians. The damage to Italian prestige in the eyes of turbulent occupied countries was believed to be of the greatest importance.

Meanwhile, heavy and medium bombers and other warplanes maintained their damaging attacks on Italy's vulnerable railroad networks and other targets in Sicily and Sardinia. Important communication targets on the Italian mainland thus had been hard hit in five of the last six days and nights.

Flying Fortresses hammered anew at the freight yards of Foggia in southwestern Italy, and medium bombers smashed at similar targets at Battapaglia and Salerno, both south of Naples.

A total of 24 enemy planes was destroyed yesterday, including 17 shot down in a brilliant victory by American Warhawks in a sweep over Sardinia. The Allies lost six in the day's battles.

The report that the Canadians had encountered stiff resistance in their sector indicated they had begun a right wheel from the center of the island and had come into contact with the 15th German armored division holding the enemy's flank west of Catania.

The American Seventh Army up to last midnight had captured 27,000 prisoners, 250 guns, 500 vehicles and 10,000,000 rounds of ammunition and destroyed 84 tanks, of which 14 were 60-ton Tigers.

Italian forces in Palermo were stunned by the swift arrival of American armor, which had been last reported 15 miles distant.

When the big port was first hit by highly mobile forces which broke into the outer areas and paralyzed resistance panic was said to have spread throughout the city, and when the main elements came up they met virtually no opposition.

The Italians had planned large scale demolitions of the port works and other installations but had no time to carry them out.

The defenders complained that their own navy had limited its assistance to the sending of a single small speedboat which was rushed in at the last hour to transport a number of high-ranking Italian naval officers out of the area.

Nearly 250 Axis supply ships in the Mediterranean were sunk or damaged by the British between September, 1942 and January, 1943.

The manifesto, in the Washington view, did not necessarily imply that Marshal Stalin was abandoning the unconditional surrender policy of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill.

Washington authorities, on the other hand, were inclined to disagree with the manifesto's assertion that if Hitler is overthrown only by the force of Allied armies and not at home, this "will signify the end of (German) national independence and of (Germany's) state existence, the dismemberment of (the) fatherland."

Some apprehension was expressed privately here that such a statement might stiffen German resistance out of fear that the Soviets intend to dominate Germany.

some essential foods have been held fairly level.

When a reporter mentioned that the War Food Administration had reported plenty of eggs on hand and the Office of Price Administration said an egg shortage existed, the President said it depends on where one lives.

Warning against using generalities in such matters, the President said for example that he had lots of eggs at his Hyde Park, N. Y., farm and that he was actually selling some.

He then recalled how a cry went up several months ago about a shortage of potatoes and said by the end of the week there were more potatoes than could be used.

UNIQUE HISTORY OF WAR IS KEPT IN SCRAPBOOK

Photographic Story Compiled With Selected Pictures From Newspapers

By JOHN SELBY

Baltimore — The one really unique wartime publishing venture springs from the brain of J. A. Hopkins, here in Baltimore. It is a kind of glorified scrapbook, giving photographically the story of the war in clippings from selected newspapers.

Mr. Hopkins is not only the compiler of the history — which is titled "Diary of World Events" — he is the publisher as well, and his clients include some of the most important libraries and colleges of the country, not to mention newspapers and individuals.

The system sounds simple, as Mr. Hopkins describes it.

He does a full day's work in the teeming Candler building, which is the home of the Social Security Board, a vast warren of files, filing clerks, filing devices and hurrying executives—one of which is Mr. Hopkins.

Part-Time Historian

Then he goes to his home on Calvert street and begins his second day's work, which is to go carefully through three newspapers for stories on the war. He uses the Baltimore Sun, the New York Times, the New York Herald Tribune. Occasionally he supplements these with others from Washington, Newark, Madison, Wis., or what have you.

"There isn't much use," he explains in his strong, practiced voice, "to go through hundreds of papers, because they all get their war news from the same sources."

He confines his clippings to fact — no prophecy, no unfounded rumor. He sprinkles in some anecdotes, pictures, and occasional cartoons. The items he pastes on sheets, 3-column size, ready for the photographer. Once a week he indexes the product; approximately once a year he publishes a set of ten volumes. They are not, of course, set up and printed; they are reproduced by photography headlines and all.

Began As Hobby

Besides having the item exactly as it appeared, the photographic process has another advantage: it's cheaper, and the history is already 28 volumes long with the possibility of years more to come. It began with the Munich broadcast—"Peace in our time"—of September, 1938, and Mr. Hopkins plans to continue it at least through the peace treaty.

"I started it," he explains, his sharp eyes darting about the battered but orderly desk, "as a private project. I wanted to know exactly what happened on a given day for my own satisfaction."

"Then it occurred to me that the idea would be useful to the public, and I offered it to some publishers. They were interested, but they wouldn't undertake it—they had no precedent for the sort of book it would make, and their sales organizations are not geared to that kind of selling job. Neither was I."

"But one day a fellow in this organization said, 'Look here, Hopkins—you know that multi-line room in the building, don't you?'"

"I did, and that was the answer. That's really all there is to it—except the labor, of course."

MORE PRISON CAMPS TO BE BUILT IN U. S.

65,058 Axis Captives Now Held in 38 Camps Here

WASHINGTON, July 23—(AP)—So that many of the 267,000 Axis prisoners captured in North Africa may be moved to this country "as quickly as possible," new internment camps are to be built throughout the United States and existing ones are to be enlarged.

In announcing those plans yesterday, the War Department disclosed that 65,058 Axis prisoners were interned in 38 camps in this country, and that the capacity of camps already built was 139,164.

Prisoners already interned include 45,355 Germans, 19,641 Italians and 62 Japanese.

FRANTIC FASCIST PROPAGANDA

Rome officials of the Fascist party, as was expected, shouted to the world Monday afternoon that President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill had violated their word to the Pope of Rome. All the howling was the aftermath of a bombing of military objectives in Rome by American fliers who were careful not to endanger any of the shrines of christianity.

Fascist officials now say that barbarous Americans and British have no regards for their pledge and are determined to destroy the magnificent churches and history-shrouded edifices in the capital of the Fascist empire.

This is a deliberate subterfuge aimed at creating a false hope in a race already betrayed by their leaders. Mussolini and his grafting henchmen have robbed the Italian people for years; they have caused thousands of them to die in battle and other thousands have been captured. Now they try to pull the wool over their eyes again by saying they will become slaves of the Russians and their temples of worship destroyed.

The American bombing attack was centered on the war industries Mussolini had moved to Rome, which never has been declared an open city but has been free of bombing because the Allies tried to spare the Italian people. Now with a tottering Italy on Mussolini's hands and his refusal to listen to demands for unconditional surrender there is nothing else to do than to blast Rome's factories day and night until Il Duce begs for mercy.

Mussolini thought it was funny when Germans were raining bombs on London. From now on let's see how many laughs he can obtain from the bombs bursting on Rome.

REAL ACHIEVEMENT

The Federal Bureau of Investigation is 35 years old, which reminds that of all agencies engaged in the American war effort none has approached so close to perfection as the FBI in the minds of the general public.

A certain amount of espionage has occurred, and undoubtedly still is occurring, in spite of the brilliant performance of the G-men. But right down to the moment of writing there is no concrete evidence that Axis agents have got away with even a minimum of organized sabotage. Such destruction as has occurred appears to be traceable largely to cranks and, for the rest, to pro-German individuals acting on their own.

Long before Pearl Harbor, the G-men had made a complete investigation of every potentially dangerous alien. By nightfall of Dec. 8, 1941, a total of 1771 had been rounded up and since that time arrests have been brought up to 13,000.

The result has been so far to stymie completely the carefully laid plans of Hitler and Tojo to cripple American industry, transportation, communications, mobilization, training and fighting.

It is difficult to conceive of more complete success than has been achieved by the organization built up and headed by John Edgar Hoover. And piling miracle upon miracle, this has been done

WASHINGTON—The Capital In Wartime:
"Big Jim" Farley, in town for a few days for activities purely social, is telling the boys that any of the political pundits who say that his trip to Mexico City is anything but a vacation are just crawling out on that limb.
Mebbe so. Mebbe the ex-chairman of the Democratic National Committee is just going to stop off at Uvalde, Texas, to take Vice President John Nance Garner a case of soda pop to mix with his branch water and to discuss the kind of weather nature makes.
If there is real trouble hatching for the fourth term within the party, it would be pretty hard to make any one believe that its two Democratic arch foes won't do a little egg-setting down at Uvalde. Maybe what Genial Jim meant by vacation was vacation from his beverage export business. If Farley ever took a vacation from politics, no one ever caught him at it.
Those in the know here are predicting that the Civil Air Patrol is one wartime activity that will go right on in the post-war world.
Although now an auxiliary of the U. S. Army Air Forces (which proves its wartime worth, since it is the only civilian volunteer organization that the War Department has eagerly sought to bring under its wing) the CAP has become a civilian life saving and disaster combat corps equalled only by the peacetime Coast Guard.
While there isn't any talk of putting CAP volunteer workers on a wage basis, it is rumored that a move may be started when Congress reconvenes to extend to those credited with sizeable hours of service some of the veterans' benefits.

Flashes of Life
Bark Leaves Tree—Not Dogwood, Either
KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—This is a tall story from the timbers and lumberman Harve Rogers swears by it: His workmen felled a large tree in Claiborne County. The tree fell up the mountainside. After a 16-foot log was cut through the tree, the log slid endways out of the bark down the mountain. The bark of the tree—which was a poplar and not slippery elm—just remained where it fell.

Words of Wisdom
Good name, in man or woman, is the immediate jewel of their souls. Who steals my purse steals trash; but he who filches from me my good name, robs me of that which no enriches him, and makes me poor indeed.—Shakespeare.
Hints on Etiquette
Don't apologize for your home when you have guests. Let your friends and acquaintances accept your home as they do you, for its worth.
Today's Horoscope
If this is the date of your birth, you are impulsive, and gifted with boundless energy. Learn to curb your temper. Be more tolerant of the actions and opinions of others. Don't take too many chances. You are not affectionate and are often misunderstood by those nearest and dearest to you. Rare harmony and sympathetic tolerance are patterned for the early hours of this day. Go straight to the authoritative source for special information. Seek a personal interview with the most informed official if you wish to get government backing of a public service plan.

One-Minute Test Answers
1. True.
2. False. Feather stitching is a stitch in sewing.
3. False. Ceramics is the art of making articles from baked clay—pottery.
without recourse to oppressive methods, without hysteria, without violation of the civil rights of respectable aliens of enemy blood.
We have criticized in the past and expected to criticize in the future, specific flaws in the relative purity of the FBI's conduct. These in the past have sprung largely from Mr. Hoover's major weakness, a somewhat peculiar approach to public relations, including a deplorable tendency to utilize in paid magazine articles important and interesting information which should have been given freely to the press of the nation.
But this has nothing to do with the investigatory genius of the FBI or with the administrative capacity of the man who has created the FBI as we know it today. It was only after Mr. Hoover took charge that this agency began climbing to the heights it now occupies.
And so with the birthday anniversary of this organization, we feel safe in saying to Mr. Hoover and his associates that their employers, the people of the United States, are proud of them. May their shadow never grow less.

STATUS OF ARGENTINA
Persons relatively close to the South American scene feel that the new regime in Argentina does not portend action by that republic against the Axis. The best we can expect from the new administration, they say, is a neutrality benevolent toward democracy rather than toward fascism.
In that case, they foresee further developments, one of which might well be a second upset that would bring into power a forthrightly pro-American government. This would, of course, be in complete accord with the realities. The common people of Argentina are anti-German. The country's long-range interests are pro-American. Argentina is losing prestige and position by her attitude. And—the Axis is on the skids.

Diet and Health

Chemistry of Plant Life

By LOGAN-CLENDENING, M. D.
1. "Why are green fruits acid. Why are they harmful?"
1. The greatest manufacturer of food stuffs on earth is the plant. It is to the plant's interest to manufacture good foods. If the fruit is good, an animal will eat it.
Dr. Clending will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column. and spread the seed far and wide. If the leaves are succulent, an animal will eat them and produce from them fertilizer in its intestines. The plant takes carbon dioxide from the air, water from the soil, and energy from the sun's rays and manufactures food.
The first and simplest compounds formed by the plant from carbon dioxide and water are formaldehyde and acids. The green fruit containing these acids, then, is sour. The green apple is made up of hard roughage and causes cramps if eaten; that is the only way it is harmful. But as the plant goes on ripening, it combines molecules of formaldehyde until it produces sugar.
The acids are transformed into grape sugar which, under the influence of the sun and inside the skin of the fruit, combine to form malt sugar, which in turn forms dextrin and then, starch. The fruit is then in its most edible form. Later it forms cellulose from the starch and becomes dry and tough.

Sensitivity to Pain
2. "Are women more sensitive to pain than men?"
2. One of the greatest needs of the modern physician is an instrument to measure pain. All we can do now is take the patient's word for it as to how bad the pain is. At the Mayo Clinic, I understand, they have been working on a pain meter which records responses from the skin. (But nothing has been devised to record deep pain.)
The skin meter is put on like a blood pressure band. Inside the band is a metal grating. The subjects of the test thought they were just having their blood pressure taken, because if they thought their pain sensitivity was being tested, psychologic reaction would enter in. As the band tightened, the grating pressed the skin. Ultimately every person objected that something was hurting. The women felt the pain at 90 to 120. The men, on the average, did not object until the pressures were 150 to 180. So we must conclude the women were more sensitive to pain than the men.
Effect of Flashlight
3. "Does it hurt a baby's eyes to face a flashlight camera?"
3. The person who asked this question had been told that flashlights would cause cataract, especially in children. There is no foundation for such a belief. Long exposure to a high degree of infrared or ultra-violet light is the only form of light or heat which will cause cataract. Exposure to very bright light paralyzes the retinal tissue as in snow blindness. But the short exposure of the flashlight does no harm.
QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
H. L.: How could you tell if you were getting tuberculosis? What would be the main symptoms and do they always show up? What is meant by the skin test?
Answer: The most important point to realize about tuberculosis is that it may advance without any symptoms or warning. The earliest symptoms are afternoon fatigue, afternoon fever, slight, steady loss of weight, spitting blood, chronic cough and pleurisy—but all too frequently none of them show up. The skin tuberculin test will detect the disease, but only in childhood. Every adult of twenty should have a chest X-ray, which detects 98 per cent of cases.
C. R.: What is Fröhlich's syndrome. Is it curable?
Answer: Fröhlich's syndrome is a disturbance of the pituitary gland, occurring in childhood. The principal features are overweight and, as the patients mature, lack of normal hair growth. It can be treated with extracts of the gland.

SYNOPSIS
KAREN BELL, wealthy and lovely, has been the sweetheart of another member of her rich Florida set. PAUL WYATT, since childhood. However, she surprisingly encounters a young stranger, obviously not of her social standing, and learns that he is MARTIN HALLIDAY.
YESTERDAY: After eating dinner with Martin Halliday in his trailer, Karen agrees to go for a walk with him in the moonlight.
CHAPTER THIRTEEN
THE MOON was as round and golden, shining down on the trailer camp, as it had been over the formal gardens, velvety lawn and wide terraces of the big house the night of the Festival, yet it was different, too, Karen decided. Not because it was in Marty's sky, as he had differentiated, instead of in hers, but it was a friendlier moon, somehow. It appeared to be smiling down on them, as they started on their tour of inspection; its light was like a sort of warm benediction, turning the trailer camp into a fairy-like village aglow with warmth and cheeriness.
"Why, I had no idea a trailer camp was so nice!" Karen claimed, enthralled by the neat rows of tiny doll-houses, as she privately thought of them, each set in its own plot of land, many of which had tiny, miniature gardens of their own, carefully tended flowerbeds, neatly trimmed shrubbery, even, occasionally, a palm tree or two. There were some with awning canopies to designate a porch, under which were comfortable lounging chairs, swings or gliders, or perhaps an old-fashioned hammock. There were even a few that were surrounded by picket fences painted a gleaming white. The windows were lighted and shed a soft welcoming beacon; there were sounds of laughter and music, the voices of children, evidence of neighborliness and friendliness everywhere.
"It is nice," Martin agreed, "especially through moon-glow landscapes like this. That is why I wanted you to see it the first time this way, and why I waited until now to take you around. In daylight it is more homely, with garbage pails in the rear and refuse burners, fat women hanging out the family wash, husbands with three-day beards and in their undershirts, stray cats and barking dogs."
"You can't spoil it for me," Karen reproved him. "I'm sure it's still a friendly little village. I imagine the people are nice, too, like one big family, almost."
"They are like people everywhere," he agreed. "Good and bad and indifferent. Friendly and quarrelsome. Though, on the whole, yes, they are a mighty nice lot. They have good times, too—bingo parties, shuffle board contests, barbecues and dances—a truly community spirit. They share the bad breaks, as well, help each other in sickness, mind each other's kids, exchange recipes and gossip, send in a piece of pie or a fresh-caught fish, dig down in their pockets in case of need and into their hearts, if real trouble comes."
"You seem to know them well," she said.
"I've known them since I was a boy," he told her. "That's the biggest lesson you learn. To accept whatever life dishes out and make yourself like it—no matter what it is."
"That might not always be easy," she was a philosopher, too, she decided now; a person from whom others could learn, if willing to listen. "But I suppose you are right. It's something worth remembering, anyway." Such a philosophy would certainly help when things did not go the way one wanted; it should soften sorrow, remove fear, lend courage and strength and wisdom.
"You'll never need it, I hope," he turned to smile down at her, then caught her arm to assist her, as they had reached the sharp incline that led down to the lake. It was bordered with tall, feathery Australian pine so that this place, with the lights of the camp in the background, was much darker. The moon had slipped under a billowy dark cloud, leaving only a fringe of light on the edges. The lake was dark and smooth and still.
"It's lovely," Karen said, looking across that quiet water at the bordering necklace of firefly lights lining the opposite bank. It was different from the turbulent, ever-changing ocean with its incessant shush-shush of lapping waves washing the patient shore. It was not so magnificent, so overwhelming; but again, it was friendlier, warmer, this outlook from Martin Halliday's side. Or maybe it was the newly-established companionship between them, this man and this girl, that warmed her heart and gave her that new sense of another kind of understanding.
He said, "You are lovely . . . with your head lifted up, looking at the stars that reflect only half their radiance in your eyes . . . too lovely, as I believe I told you before, Karen Bell." His voice, in the darkness, had a new sound, one that had rough edges, or the griminess of fought-for control. He let go of her arm almost roughly, too, took a step away from her, as if he found her nearness and loveliness disturbing.
"You talk like a poet one minute," Karen said, turning the stars in her eyes toward him, her own voice soft and wistful again, since she found it disturbing and exciting, his way of talking, his mode of thought. "And like a realist the next. What are you, Martin Halliday, who are you, why did Fate persist in flinging us together, I wonder? I'm not really asking, just thinking out loud, I guess. But life is queer, isn't it, and wonderful, and nice. And of course it doesn't matter who you are, or who I am, does it? Not on a night like this?"
"It doesn't, although it should." His tone still was harsh. He took a step toward her, bending his head, since he was so much taller than she, looking down into her eyes. "It was tomorrow, in that broad daylight I told you about. Who am I? Just a very ordinary man; human, though, as you said of yourself. As for Fate, she's a wily one, not always to be trusted, a temptress, flinging us together, yet not to be denied, maybe."
Another step brought him so close that Karen could feel his breath on her hair, so that she looked up into his eyes, and then she was in his arms, not knowing whether it was she who took that final step, or he—or Fate again. But there they were, his heart pounding against her own, his lips against hers, too. It was the sort of kiss she had thought about, not light or brief, but relentless and demanding. It sent chills sprinting up and down her spine, it made her pulses race, her senses sway, just as she had dreamed it would be.
When it was over, after what might have been seconds or eons, eternally or nothingness, he was the first to step away again. The first to say, "Can you forgive and forget that, too? I plead guilty once more—to all charges. It was ungentlemanly and unfair, cowardly and uncouth. My only defense is the one I gave you, that I am human and you are too lovely. You ought never to trust me again. Yet I swear to you if you will, that it will never happen again, either."
"I'll accept—and like—that evidence for the defense," Karen said, quoting the philosophy he had given her. But she thought he might have given her other reasons, that he liked her for herself, not just for the moment; he might not have given such swift promise never to be human again, since she was partly to blame in this, too, no doubt. For she HAD taken that last step, and she had dreamed this kiss before it had happened.

City Slickers Help Save Crops in Utah

OGDEN, Utah—With more than 4,000 volunteers signed for leisure-time work, this community's 1943 cropsaving program is pointing the way to other agricultural sections with similar laborshortage problems to solve.
Producing annually about 4,500,000 cases of commercially-canned fruits and vegetables, in addition to thousands of tons of sugar beets and alfalfa hay, Ogden this year faced one of the most acute labor shortages in the country. A city of 41,000 population normally, its manpower had been so heavily drained by needs of four large military depots in the area that less than five per cent of its usual army of farm, can-manufacturing and canning plant labor was available.
Realizing the role of 1943 foodstuffs in the Allied victory program, Ogdenites voluntarily assumed responsibility for harvesting and commercially processing the fruits and vegetables raised in this area.
First plans for the crop saving program were drafted at a rally in June when Governor Herbert B. Maw told a gathering of leaders in every walk of life that, "Our men in uniform have the finest brand of courage in the world, but they can't eat courage."
On the list of the volunteer crop corps are the names of bankers, business men, club and society women and high school students alike. More than 50 per cent of the Ogden Federation of Women's Clubs signed for work in the canning and can-manufacturing plants. The Benevolent Protective Order of Elks (woman's branch of the Elks) has pledged 75 per cent of its membership or 125 part-time workers. The Aglaia Club composed of young society matrons, has pledged 50 workers or 60 per cent of its membership.
Polled by the USES, civilian workers in the four military depots of the area have rolled up a total of 1,450 volunteers. The majority of these workers will go into the canning plants on night shifts and will also work in the field on their days off. High school students, registering before the end of the end of the school term, are already in the cherry orchards 1,000 strong, gathering the first of the fruit crops.
As an aid to patriotically inclined mothers with small children at home, the Ogden school system, in cooperation with the federal government, established two day nurseries, announcing at the same time that "as many more as are necessary will be opened to take care of children of mothers who want to volunteer."

With the aid of this volunteer crop corps, the Ogden area is expecting to produce at least 4,500,000 cases of commercially-canned tomatoes, peas, beans, beets, carrots and other vegetables and approximately 120,000 cases of canned cherries, apricots and peaches, in addition to 1,000,000 bags of potatoes, 50,000 tons of sugar beets, 10,000 tons of hay.

MORE RAID SHELTERS PROPOSED FOR CITIES

WASHINGTON, July 23—(AP)—Too many people are "milling around" street corners of big American cities when air raid test alarms sound, said James F. Landis, director of Civilian Defense, in proposing today that more shelter areas be provided.

Otherwise commendable preparations against air raids have been "marred by a deplorable lack of shelters" for those caught on the streets when the warnings sound, Landis declared in a statement. He urged all communities to canvas their shelter situation.

"Go To Church" Sunday

In response to the call of the four ministers, Dr. C. J. Williams, Rev. Garnet January, Dr. E. J. Meacham and Rev. Caliman, "Go to Church Day," Sunday there was the largest audiences in each of the four churches there had been for quite some time.

At the Methodist Church, the main auditorium was filled, with the overflow being seated in the S. S. room and balcony, with 50 men in the congregation, and one accession to the church. This being a Lt. in the U. S. Service, the men were given a special invitation to welcome him into the church. It was a great sight to see all those men advance in a huge body at the request of Dr. Williams.

Each of the other churches had larger numbers of men present than was customary, as well as more ladies.

"The flowers are for yesterday and the monuments for tomorrow"

"I'd like to tell you what the Japs did to some friends of mine"

"I AM LIEUTENANT (j. g.) ANN B. BERNATITUS, U. S. N.—a nurse, back from Bataan. I have a message for you . . .

"Those American boys—who fought for you with their backs to the wall, waiting for help that never reached them—came from the land of plenty. But when their lives were at stake, all they had was . . . plenty of nothing!"

"They were outnumbered, outgunned, and out-supplied. They were so short of ammunition that antiaircraft gunners often had to hold their fire until the enemy planes were on top of them. They were so short of bandages and gauze that we nurses had to wash out the old ones and use them again.

"But they were never short of courage. They never spoke of surrender. They just went on fighting, and hoping, and dying. And no sacrifice was ever too great.

"Let me give you an example. One terrible day on Bataan we had 285 patients on our operating tables in 8 hours—a new patient every two minutes of the day.

"A sailor was brought in with his abdomen blown to bits. He was a goner and I think he knew it. 'Doctor,' he asked, 'is there any hope at all?'

"The doctor wished to reassure him and replied, 'We'll do everything we can!' The sailor tried to roll over. 'Doc,' he begged, 'get me off this table and save one of those other fellows who still has a fighting chance.'

"That was the kind of men we had at Bataan. And they would want you to remember not only what they did, but what they did without.

"They would want you to remember it, but not with flowers and memorials. The flowers are for yesterday and the monuments for tomorrow.

"Remember them now—this month and every month—by buying War Bonds!

"Buy guns and planes and shells and ships and tanks—for those other countrymen of yours who are fighting so far from home. See to it that never again, any place in the world, will American fighting men be caught short as they were on Bataan! That never again will American wounded perish for the help your dollars might have sent!

"Certainly taxes are higher. Certainly the cost of living has gone up. But the men on Bataan were never ten-percenters!

"They gave everything they had. And now it's up to you to buy War Bonds not only if you can, but all you can! Please believe me, folks—that's the way the boys on Bataan would like to be remembered!"

RESURFACING CCC HIGHWAY IS UNDERWAY

Road West of City Closed
For 10 Days While Work Is Done

Starting Friday a detour will be in effect on the CCC highway west of this city until the work of resurfacing the road from the corporation line to the Clinton County line is completed.

The detour will carry traffic over the Leesburg and Snow Hill roads while the resurfacing work, which will require some 10 days, is under way.

Next week during the Fair, the barriers will be placed at the intersection of Fairview Avenue, which is the street leading to the main entrance of the Fair Grounds.

Efforts were made to have work on the CCC highway postponed until after the Fair, but this was of no avail.

The contractors had all plans to start the work Friday, and will push the work as weather permits.

Soldier From Here Rests On Pacific Isle After Battle On Guadalcanal

A young man who grew up among the tall corn of Fayette County today rests on one of the mystic isles of the South Pacific after battling the Japs in the steaming jungles of Guadalcanal, a letter to one of his childhood friends here reveals.

Jimmy Cox

But, Jimmy Cox is impatient to get another crack at the Japs, and for good reason. They took his brother Owen captive when they swarmed over Corrigedor on May 7, 1942.

It is possible, though not considered probable, that he will get another chance for more revenge—if he already has not had it—as the Allied offensive against the Mikado's stolen empire gathers momentum.

In his letter to Mrs. Homer D. Henry whom he has known since they were youngsters when he lived with Mrs. Henry's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Scott of near Washington C. H., he did not name the island where he had been recuperating but he did say it was about 45 miles from Guadalcanal.

Indicative of the Allied domination of that particular theater of the far-flung Pacific war zone, was his statement that they had lights on the island for the first time on June 11.

He wrote that his rest camp was in a clearing in the island jungle and that in the evenings it made him think of autumn in "good old Ohio."

Before the Japs had been subdued in that part of the Solomon Islands, the former's mother, Mrs. J. W. Costlow, of near Ashville.

HOTEL SERVICE PROVIDED FOR MEN IN SERVICE

Nashville Businessman Sees
Need for Hospitality and Does Something About It

By ALICE HOFFMAN

Nashville, Tenn. — You pass a soldier asleep on a park bench or on the floor of a public building and you say, "What a shame. Something ought to be done..."

Last year during the Second Army's middle Tennessee maneuvers Joe Werthan, Nashville businessman, saw scores of soldiers sleeping that way and thought "Something ought to be done..."

Now Werthan operates what he believes is the only free hotel for servicemen run and financed by an individual.

Located in two three-story colonial brick dwellings and a white frame cottage near the center of Nashville, the 250-room Werthan Servicemen's Center provides first-class hotel service plus home atmosphere.

A U. S. uniform is a stranger's introduction. Soldiers, sailors or Marines can make reservations by mail or telephone. They register as they would at a hotel, select their own rooms, and leave messages at the desk, if they wish, to be called at any hour.

On each floor there are hot and cold showers with ample supplies of bath towels and soap. The hotel also provides fresh linen for each of the 250 beds and a razor with a new blade for every man.

Every day on his to and from his office Werthan, who is "Joe" to the armed forces, stops in at the center to see how things are going. His wife and volunteers from his bag manufacturing plant assist at the center, which is open 24 hours every day.

Nearly every week-end some 300 soldiers through the office-lobby, which is flanked on one side by a recreation room with pool and ping-pong tables and on the other by a reading-writing room supplied with pens, ink and stationery.

The "Coffee Shoppe" with its modern restaurant counter and high upholstered stools is perhaps the best place to get an expression of opinion from the armed forces on the merits of the free hotel.

Under the influence of free doughnuts and coffee (the OPA cooperates with Werthan) a corporal confided: "Before I found out about this place I used to try at four or five hotels before I could get a room, and even then I didn't always get one. Now I come right out here the minute I get into town. It isn't just that everything here is 'for free.' It seems like home."

The hotel operates on the "honor" system, the only regulation being "no smoking in bedrooms."

"There are MP's on duty at all the other places in town where soldiers stay, but we've never needed any here," Werthan says.

"Thank you" letters come from soldiers all over the country—one from overseas.

How much Werthan has spent for the center he says he doesn't know or care. "I don't keep any records," he asserts. "I'm getting more satisfaction out of this thing than anything I've ever done in my life and if I can interest other individuals in doing the same thing, that's all I ask."

"AFTER THE RAID"

After the raid, there is quite a chatter.

The lieutenant asks, "What's the matter?"

"Tony's been nicked, but it isn't bad."

It doesn't seem to hurt, but boy, he is mad."

Those devils will pay for this—and how.

"I'll get me a Tojo," that's his vow.

The true soldier's fighting blood is aroused.

Like all fine Americans we are proud.

The discussion goes on as we sit on our cot.

Not much damaged but, they're not so hot.

"We can't tell," says another lad.

Those bombs they carry are not bad.

Let's go to sleep and talk in the morning.

If they come back we'll get another warning.

You know there is plenty of work tomorrow.

If you don't get some rest it's your own sorrow.

So that ends the discussion for tonight.

Again we are all sleeping, but light.

Saturday Brings Clyde Beatty-Wallace Bros. Circus to Town for Two Shows

SHIRLEY STEVENS, Cleveland girl, one of the many daring aerialists, poses atop Old Dingus, leader of the three herds of performing elephants with the Clyde Beatty-Wallace Bros. Circus, here tomorrow, for afternoon and night performances.

Tomorrow is circus day for Washington C. H., first big circus of the season and probably the only one coming as ODT officials gave the "green light" to only six major organizations for the 1943 season, Clyde Beatty-Wallace Bros. Circus, showing here tomorrow, being one of this number and their routing prevents one from getting too close to others territory.

Beatty, former Chillicothe boy, and part owner of this great circus, still has the crowds drawing short breaths and hanging to the edge of their seats as he battles single handed the largest mixed group of jungle bred animals, nowhere at no time has there ever been assembled and presented before the public 40 Nubian lions and Royal Bengal tigers, 22,500 pounds of jungle fury battled into submission by this wiry young chap weighing but 140 pounds.

The very blonde, very pretty, Harriett Beatty, Clyde's wife, also presents a most unusual act, having successfully trained two jungle enemies to work together, the elephant and the tiger.

The Clyde Beatty-Wallace Bros. Circus, is not an all wild animal circus, in addition to these two outstanding displays, more than 150 white top stars constantly fill the three rings, the air and hippodrome track with the latest "thrillers and chillers" of the circus world.

The circus closes a record breaking attendance for three days at Columbus, tonight and the date here tomorrow is used to break the jump to Cincinnati, where they open a three day run, Sunday.

CRITIC OF RED TAPE IS GIVEN WFA JOB

Texas Cattleman Is Named
Assistant to Jones

WASHINGTON, July 23—(AP)—A Texas cattleman with a Jeffersonian philosophy that government agencies often issue too many regulations has been drafted as right-hand advisor and top assistant to War Food Administrator Marvin Jones.

Heavy-jowled Grover B. Hill, assistant U. S. secretary of agriculture, cattle rancher and wheat farmer at Amarillo, Tex., was moved in as an adviser while Jones was getting acquainted with his new job. The two have been close friends for many years.

As assistant secretary, Hill, like Secretary Claude R. Wickard, had been divested of any authority over the war food program by President Roosevelt's order of last March setting up the WFA as an agency independent of the agriculture department. He now has more power in making food policy decisions than ever before, however.

Associates of Hill predict the WFA will seek to bring about food industry compliance with its program by price mechanisms rather than by mandatory orders. In other words, it is expected to set up price relationships which would make it financially profitable for the industry to do the thing the government wants.

(By The Associated Press)
Some plaintive chirping has been coming from the nest of the St. Louis Cardinals in recent days because of their stricken pitching staff, which has been badly maimed by injuries and calls to the service.

But their National League rivals probably will be slow to show any sympathy for the world champions, who have just won four games in a row and increased their first place margin to 5 1-2 games in spite of a shortage of first rate hurlers.

COON DOG TRIAL TO BE SUNDAY

The first coon dog trials of consequence in Fayette County in years will be held on the Johnson and Kyle farms about a half mile north of Buena Vista next Sunday under the auspices of the recently organized Fayette County Coon Hunters Association.

The dogs are to be cast from a starting area on the first crossroads east of the Buena Vista park about noon. They are to finish in the woods along the bank of Rattlesnake Creek from mid-afternoon until evening.

Between 40 and 50 dogs are expected to take part in the trials. Most of them were described as "night dogs"—that is dogs with actual hunting experience.

The association hopes to raise some money for restocking the county with raccoons through the proceeds from the sale of soft drinks and sandwiches. Forty percent of the $1 per dog entry fee also goes into the restocking fund.

The winning dogs will get, in addition to the honor and satisfaction to the owner, 60 percent of the entry fees.

AMERICAN HEROES BY LEFF

Hyman Epstein knew that after wounding a man the Japs around Hanananda were withholding their fire, using the injured soldier for bait until unarmed medical aides like himself came into range. # Removal Of Jack Wolfe Sustained By Judge Rankin

COURT AFFIRMS CIVIL SERVICE BOARD FINDING

Chief's Removal Based Upon 'Neglect of Duty' Charges Made

Removal of Jack Wolfe as Washington C. H. police chief by the city Civil Service Commission was upheld by Judge Harry M. Rankin in a decision which found him guilty of neglect of duty and disregarded the other charges considered by the commission at its hearing nearly two years ago.

The other charges made by City Manager Edwin Ducey when Wolfe was removed from office and which were not sustained by Judge Rankin who stated in his opinion that:

"In view of the fact that the evidence establishes that there was 'neglect of duty' on the part of the appellant in the particulars previously pointed out herein, we find that there was sufficient cause of removal for that reason. Judgment will be for appellee, with costs."

It is noted in the decision of Judge Rankin that the case came into the Common Pleas Court on appeal from the decision of the civil service commission, rendered September 23, 1941, affirming the order of Ducey. City Manager, made July 8, 1941, removing Wolfe from the office of chief of police of the city.

Upon agreement of counsel the case was submitted on the records, exhibits and briefs of counsel. The record included a transcript of all the evidence offered before the commission.

There were five alleged causes of removal enumerated in the order—neglect of duty, dishonesty, malfeasance and nonfeasance in office.

The degree of proof is settled in Ohio that:

"Removal statutes are to be construed strictly, and to warrant a removal of an official, the evidence must be clear and convincing," the court cites.

In regard to the charge that Wolfe unlawfully received $1 from Herbert Kirk for alleged overtime parking, and failing to account for it, the court holds that the evidence shows that for years the custom had prevailed in the absence of the police judge for any member of the force to accept payments on fines, place the money in an envelope and deliver it to the police judge. Some doubt was expressed at the ouster hearing as to whether the money had been paid, but the court held that clear and convincing proof had not been given that the $1 had not been paid over by Wolfe. Other similar charges were treated in the same manner by the court, which held the evidence was insufficient to support the charges. The evidence of Judge Robert Sites was cited in which he said he had personally received certain funds Wolfe was alleged not to have turned over. The court found the docket supported the evidence of Judge Sites.

Regarding the charge that Wolfe on Sept. 6, 1939, received from the county treasurer $6 as witness fees which he failed to pay to the treasurer of the police relief fund, the court reviewed the evidence submitted, including that of Wolfe that he had asked for an opinion from the solicitor and was ready to pay the fees over to the person entitled to receive them. Such advice was denied by the city solicitor. It was noted that the state law provides that such fees shall immediately be paid to the treasurer of the police relief fund for the credit of the fund.

The court pointed out that ignorance of the law excuses no one, and cited instances in this connection, including a seining case that became famous in this city years ago.

The decision, which covers 12 typewritten pages, in conclusion, says in part:

"However under the statute now being considered there can not be said to be any ground for an honest difference of opinion."

BLACKBERRY CROP IS ABOVE AVERAGE

Berries Are Abundant in Part of State

The blackberry crop in much of Ohio is said to be above an average and large quantities of the berries are going to waste in some remote areas, according to reports coming from the hill counties.

Gasoline rationing and tire restrictions prevent large numbers of persons going into the hills and picking berries, or even hauling them back.

Labor shortage in the big berry centers is also interfering with gathering the crop.

The statute is plain and undoubted. The statute had been in effect since 1920. Appellant's duty under it is clear and free from force for almost two years before these proceedings were instituted. Appellant had information about his right to retain these fees about six months prior thereto, or rather his right to retain them was questioned long before.

In State vs. Lesser, 94 Ohio St., 387, it is held:

"A charge that an officer collecting money belonging to a city failed, neglected and refused to pay the same into the city treasury, charges gross neglect of duty on the part of the officer and is a reasonable and just cause for his removal from office."

"We recognize that the facts presented in that case made out a stronger charge than the one presented in the instant case but the principle involved appears to be very analogous. In that case it was the opinion of the court that the officer was guilty of 'neglect of duty' which would justify his removal. Of course, neglect of duty means a failure to perform a duty and the only failure, it would appear, was the failure to pay the money into the city."

"We are of the opinion that the appellant's failure to pay the fees which he collected, into the treasurer of the police relief fund constituted 'neglect of duty' on his part, and we so find."

"This was one of the causes enumerated in Section 486-17a General Code, for which the city manager, in his discretion, was authorized to remove appellant as chief of police. The statute confers authority upon the civil service commission to 'affirm, disaffirm or modify the judgment of the city manager.' But, the jurisdiction conferred upon this court by the appeal is special and limited. The court has power only to determine the sufficiency of the cause of removal." Kearns vs. Sherrill, 137, Ohio St., 468."

VACATION TRIPS TABOO AS OPA CLAMPS DOWN

New Rule Out To Mark All Coupons as Curb Put on Non-essential Driving

The automobile license number and the state of registration must be written on the face of each coupon in gasoline ration books, according to regulations just received by the county's Ration Board.

The Office of Price Administration instructions said, furthermore, that each stamp should be marked in ink, otherwise it would not be honored by service stations. The board chairman added, by way of suggestion, to "do this at once," as he echoed the OPA regulations.

Turning to gasoline for vacations, the chairman said OPA rules forbade using B and C books for this purpose. However, he added, when "holders of A books do not use their cars to go to and from work, they have the privilege of using their estimated 240 miles (provided by the four gallons a week rations) as they please. But, it was pointed out that cars not used for occupational mileage are not eligible for tires of any kind at the present.

All summer resorts and lake towns are being checked for violations of the vacation driving restrictions, it was said, it was explained that "when a violation is reported the gasoline ration book must be revoked, regardless of the occupation or profession of the holder." It was emphasized at the office of the Ration Board that the OPA is clamping down on the use of gasoline and tires for non-essential driving.

Although no figures or names were given out by the board, it has been learned from inside sources that more than a score of gasoline ration books have been "lifted" and that a "number" of other drivers have been cited for investigation of violations. It was readily admitted at the board that it was not known how the OPA was checking on driving but it also was said that "it is apparent that it is not only being done but that detailed and accurate information is secured."

Discussion of possible reductions in gasoline rations first mentioned by Secretary Harold L. Ickes when the pipeline to carry oil to the eastern gasoline shortage area was dedicated this week, was avoided at the office of the board here, but it was said that "the tire situation is critical at the present time and the quota for Fayette County has been cut drastically." The chairman declared that because of the "small quota" every application for tires will have to be checked carefully so tires will be granted only to the most essential users." He added that "those who have applications at the board will get tires as soon as possible and it will be useless to call at the board's office to inquire about them."

Because of the heavy work load on the board's staff, it was said that it would be impossible to issue ration books on the while-you-wait basis. The suggestion was made to "leave your application and your book will be mailed."

A tip was given to restaurants and "all eating places" to "roll back prices on foods and beverages to void having a price ceiling."

TEST OF STRENGTH against Col. Robert R. McCormick, above, Chicago newspaper publisher, in the 1944 presidential primaries will be very acceptable to Wendell Willkie, the 1940 G. O. P. candidate. ing applied to Fayette County."

It has been said, however, that the eating places here were "pretty well in line" with the price scale and the chairman was generous with his commendation of restaurant operators for not taking advantage of the wartime conditions. The impression prevails that because of failure to skyrocket food prices, such as has been done in many other places, that restaurants not only have been given sympathetic consideration by the OPA in figuring food rations for the increased business but also they have been spared the restrictions that would have been necessary had prices been increased disproportionately.
